Q & A SESSION

Concept Note & Biography of the Speaker

Learning Factories

Bridging the Gap between Academia & Industry

The speaker delves into the concept of learning factories, exploring their foundational principles, and current status in Germany, and gives exemplary best practices. Learning factories serve as innovative educational platforms, integrating theory with practical application to cultivate a skilled workforce.

In Germany, these factories have gained prominence, aligning with the nation's emphasis on academic and vocational training as well as industry collaboration.

The lecture illuminates key fundamentals, such as hands-on learning, competency development, and real-world problem-solving. By examining the German landscape, participants gain insights into the successful integration of learning factories within the academic and industrial framework. Best practices, drawn from successful cases, provide valuable takeaways for educators, industry leaders, and policymakers seeking to enhance workforce development through dynamic and experiential learning approaches and close the gap between academia and industry.

M. Sc. Marius Knott

Research Assistant, Ruhr University Bochum

Marius Knott has been working as a research assistant at the Chair of Production Systems (LPS) at the Ruhr-University Bochum since the end of 2020 in the field of production management. He earned a master's degree in mechanical engineering at the Ruhr-University Bochum. His primary research topic is the development of Learning Factories, and he assumes the role of coordinator for the LPS' learning and research factory.

Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst (DAAD)

It was in 1960 when the DAAD Regional Office was established on the basis of the German-Egyptian Cultural Agreement. Since then, the academic relations between Egypt and Germany have evolved steadily. The close cooperation has unwrapped new horizons for the scientific bonds of both countries to further develop and flourish. Thousands of Egyptian scholars have benefited ever since from these ties. <https://www.daad.eg/>

Clusters of Scientific Innovation in the Middle East and North Africa (COSIMENA)

In the scope of COSIMENA the DAAD Office Cairo realises interdisciplinary events on current issues in science and innovation, such as workshops, conferences, roundtable discussions, the German Science Day, the COSIMENA Science Night and a Summer School. The several activities aim to bring together various stakeholders from science, business, government, and civil society. Especially scientists are promoted and supported through networking opportunities. www.daad.eg/cosimena
